Emerald Heart Cards - Transmitters of Light

The image on the Emerald Heart cards is actually a Light Transmitter. This means that the cards radiate the Emerald Heart Light. They are a vehicle for bringing Light into the world and a very practical tool to help you.

You can use them for charging your crystals, drinks, food, water. Anything that you stand on the card will have its vibration uplifted. You can also use them to uplift the vibration of a room or office. Just place a card on the wall in an appropriate place and allow the Light to radiate into your space.

History of the Image

The green cards are the original image that we use as the symbol for the Emerald Heart Light and The Emerald Heart School of Enlightenment. The history of the image is very interesting. The lady that drew the original was called Jill Barlow who left our world some years ago.

The first heart that Jill drew was flat and totally dead. It just didn't work at all. When we discussed it, she told me that she had tried to draw something to her idea of what I wanted rather than drawing something from her own heart. I asked her could she have another go and just allow her heart to produce the image. The result could not have been more different.

A short time later the heart image that we use today was sent to me. What happened next though was quite amazing. When I looked at the image on the following day, it had changed. It was difficult to say how it had changed, but it felt like it had been born or come to life. It was fully energised and somehow different.

Without letting Jill know what I had seen, I asked her to create a card with the new heart on it. She came back to me as soon as she opened the computer file and said, "David, this image has changed. This is not the image I drew, but yet it is, but it is different somehow." That was a pretty good confirmation of what I had experienced when seeing the changes. This is a wonderful example of how the Universe helps us to bring Light into the world when we have the right intention in our hearts.

From that day forward I knew that we had been given something very special and over the years, it has always proved to be such a powerful symbol of the Light that it represents – The Emerald Heart Light.

Strangely, the original files that Jill created disappeared from her computer and all I had was a single copy on a CD.

The Pink Hearts

Eight years later, in 2013, The Emerald Heart Light gave birth to a healing system called The Divine Plan Healing System, which was given through Lynne Shaw by Mary Magdalene with the help of Jesus. Lynne was guided to use the Emerald Heart image for the Divine Plan Healing System, but in another colour. The pink reflects the Love and Wisdom of Mary Magdalene and the heart refers to the fact that it is an Emerald Heart Healing System.

A year later, in 2014 Harriët Kroon became the Divine Plan Mother and brought the system into the world by creating The Divine Plan Healing School based in The Netherlands.
